

Lisa Liggins-Chambers, Ph.D.

CLINICAL PSYCHOLOGY
MASTER OF SCIENCE, SCHOOL PSYCHOLOGY
LICENSED SCHOOL PSYCHOLOGIST, ILLINOIS

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

Dr. Lisa is a seasoned psychologist with over 25 years of experience specializing in clinical and school psychology for children and youth with neurodevelopmental and behavioral disorders. Her passion for advocacy and deep empathy for children and families led her to serve as Executive Director of the Champaign County Children's Advocacy Center (CAC), where she guides a multidisciplinary team responding to cases of child sexual abuse and serious physical harm.

Originally from Cleveland, Ohio, Dr. Lisa has conducted psychological and educational evaluations across school districts, universities, and private agencies. Her advocacy extends beyond the clinical setting. She writes for the online edition of Psychology Today, where several of her articles have been recognized as Essential Reads, and she speaks publicly on mental health, disability equity, and psychological testing.

Dr. Lisa is deeply committed to both community service and family life. She is a proud wife, mother of three, and caregiver to three beloved pets, including Lando, an emotional support dog who provides comfort to CAC families in times of need.